U. S. WILL ACCEPT CARRANZA'S PLAN FOR NEGOTIATIONS

Formal Reply Agreeing to Direct Exchanges Will Be Sent From Washington, Probably in Day or Two at the Most.

Tension Regarded as Being Easier, but No Prediction Is Ventured as to Outcome of Discussions.

President Will Refuse to Have Attempts at an Agreement Based on Withdrawal of Troops From Mexico.

WASHINGTON, July 6.—Formal acceptance of Gen. Carranza's proposal that differences between the United States and the de facto Government of Mexico be settled by direct negotiations will be dispatched soon to Mexico City. This was decided by President Wilson today at a conference with Secretary Lansing.

The Mexican note, delivered yesterday, said the de facto Government had accepted in principle Latin-American offers of mediation, but was awaiting information as to whether the United States believed the desired result could be accomplished by direct exchanges between the two Governments.

Secretary Lansing will depart tomorrow for a month's vacation. It was not stated whether he would first prepare the reply to Mexico, but indications are that it will go forward within a day or two at the most.

Lansing to Be Within Reach.

The Secretary will be in direct touch by telegraph and telephone with the White House and State Department during his absence, but informal conversations with William A. Ransdell, Mexican Ambassador-designate, which it is hoped will develop a solution of the difficulties along the Mexican border, will be conducted by Counselor Pick, acting as Secretary.

While Gen. Carranza's amicable rejoinder to the last two American notes has greatly eased tension, no official was willing today to predict the final outcome of the forthcoming negotiations. It was made plain, however, that no change in policy is contemplated by the Washington Government, and that immediate withdrawal of Gen. Pershing's expeditionary forces from Mexico will not be an acceptable basis for whatever plan of co-operative action along the border is worked out.

Washington officials take the position that only the preliminary step has been taken by Gen. Carranza toward the friendly adjustment he now appears to desire. Demonstration of his ability to carry out the promises, expressed and implied in his note is still lacking, President Wilson, it is pointed out, has been ready to withdraw American troops from Mexico at any time the de facto Government would express the intention and show the ability to furnish adequate military protection for the border.

Villa Reported in Field Again.

The efficiency of Mexican police measures may be put soon to a severe test, according to rumors transmitted from the border today to the State Department. These state that Francisco Villa has recovered from his wounds and is personally leading a force northward from the region just south of Parral.

Between the points where Villa is said to be operating and the advanced camps of Gen. Pershing's forces are considerable forces of Carranza troops.

Gen. Ramos Killed in Beginning Campaign Against Villa Bandits.

CHIHUAHUA, Mexico, July 6.—Gen. Ignacio Ramos was killed in a fight at Corral Ranch, 15 miles southwest of Jiminez, between a small force of de facto troops and several regiments of Villa bandits. Rather than retire to Jiminez without carrying out his orders, which were not to return unless he were able to report success, Gen. Ramos fought to the death in his entrenchments.

The Carranza troops were attacked Monday at daybreak and for 12 hours held out against repeated attacks, hoping for reinforcements. At nightfall, after Ramos had been killed and the greater part of the command killed or wounded, the survivors retired to Jiminez. Other troops had been ordered to join a junction with Gen. Ramos at Corral for a general offensive against Villa followers, but were delayed by a wreck.

After the Corral clash the garrison at Santa Rosalia was sent to hold Jiminez, and 2000 troops, including the brigade of Domingo Arrieta, were sent to attack the forces cut off Gen. Ramos. Gen. Maclovio Garcia is in charge of the campaign.

New Road Being Built From Colonia Dublan to Columbus.

COLUMBUS, N. M., July 6.—Gen. Pershing, commanding the American expedition in Mexico, has issued orders to expedite the construction of the new wagon road between Columbus and the old base at Colonia Dublan, according to reports from the field today. Military

CONVICT ORCHESTRA PLAYS AT JEFFERSON CITY COUNTRY CLUB

State Prisoners Are Taken 4 Miles in Auto to Dance Which Gov. Major Attends.

JEFFERSON CITY, July 6.—The convict orchestra of the Missouri penitentiary, its members wearing white suits without visible numbers, furnished the music for the Fourth of July dance of the Jefferson City Country Club, at the clubhouse, west of town, Tuesday night. Gov. Major was one of the dancers.

The musicians were carried in automobiles from the prison to the clubhouse, a distance of nearly four miles. The State law provides that convicts shall wear gray suits, with the prisoner's number printed on coat or trousers. The prison orchestra was used June 28, at the opening of what is known as D. C. McClung Park, in the southeast part of the city. This tract, bearing the name of the warren of the penitentiary, belongs to the State, and is being improved as a recreation place. At the opening, admission tickets were sold for $1 each, the money being desired for the completion of a bathing pool.

Anton Blum, president of the local branch of the musicians' union, has called a meeting for Sunday morning, to discuss the use of the prison orchestra in entertainments where union musicians might be employed.

George Stemme, 6 months old, son of Mrs. Oscar Stemme of 4173 Forsum avenue, died last night from injuries he received about 7 o'clock when his uncle, Otto Stemme, stumbled over a box on the stairs leading to the basement of the Stemme home and dropped him from his arms onto the concrete stairway. The child's skull was crushed.

Pete Spanno, 5 years old, of 919 North Ninth street, fell from a third-story porch at his home to the brick sidewalk 40 feet below and suffered only a slight cut on his head.

The Timmins of Baltimore has been cruising off Cape Henry for nine consecutive days and has repeatedly refused tows of sailing craft desiring to be brought to this city. Yet the Captain of the Timmins insists that his object in maneuvering about Cape Henry is for the usual purpose of picking up a tow. The deduction is that he is there on business with a German submarine.

CHILDREN CONTINUE TO DIE ONE AN HOUR FROM PARALYSIS

More Than 150 Deaths in 10 Days in New York Epidemic.

MORE NURSES ASKED FOR

Special Bonds Authorized to Finance Fight—Sunday Schools to Be Watched.

NEW YORK, July 6.—The Health department announced today that complete figures show that during the 24 hours preceding 9 o'clock this morning, 21 children died of infantile paralysis in the greater city.

Of the 623 cases reported in Greater New York, 174 have resulted in death. All the children are under 7 years old.

Special bonds to provide money to fight infantile paralysis have been authorized and today the Health Commissioner is appealing for 120 additional nurses. There are 300 cases in three city hospitals. The last 48 hours have been the worst period since the epidemic began. In the 24 hours ending at 10 o'clock yesterday morning 91 cases had been verified in Brooklyn, 18 in Manhattan, two on Staten Island and two in Queens. No additional cases were reported from the Bronx.

This makes 123 the toll for one day, which is the worst yet recorded. In Brooklyn 157 cases were verified in 48 hours, and scores of others were awaiting confirmation by the doctors.

The death toll continues to be high. There were 23 deaths in the 48 hours preceding Monday noon, 25 deaths in the next 24 hours and, so far as could be learned, seven deaths from Tuesday noon to yesterday morning. This makes a total of more than 150 deaths in approximately 600 cases—a mortality that far surpasses that in any past experience with the disease.

Reported in Other Cities.

Reports came in indicating that the malady is gradually extending its ravages to points up the State and to the West. In Hudson, N. Y., there are six cases and others in Beacon, Kingston and Binghamton. Several suspicious cases were reported on Long Island, and the State Department of Health is taking measures to verify them. Other points at which the disease was reported are Newark, Newport, Boston, Cleveland and Bristol, Pa.

Orders were issued to all institutions having the care of children directing that no persons be permitted to visit the children during the continuation of the epidemic. An exception is made in the case of children in hospitals desperately ill. In such instances the relatives may see them at the discretion of the attending physician.

A shortage of monkeys is handicapping the work of the Rockefeller Institute. The St. Louis animal is the only one yet found which will develop the disease by inoculation. For the development of a serum it is absolutely necessary to have such animals.

Dust Spreads Disease.

The Health Commissioner issued instructions today regarding dustless cleaning. He advises that before floors are swept they be dampened with a wet rag or wet sawdust. Curtains should be taken down for dusting and woodwork cleaned with a wet rag.

The commissioner's step was based on a series of experiments conducted by Dr. M. Neustaedter, neurologist, and his associate, Dr. William Throw. They gathered sweepings from a room which had held sufferers from infantile paralysis.

The sweepings were shaken for six hours in a salt solution and strained through cotton and a Berkefeld filter. The solution was then slightly evaporated in a vacuum and a portion of it was injected into a monkey.

Seven days afterward the monkey became nervous and trembling and a day

BODIES OF NINE SLAIN AT CARRIZAL REACH EL PASO

Only Those of Capt. Boyd, Lieut. Adair and One Private Identified.

CROWD SEES CORTEGE

Dead Escorted Through Street by Cavalry Regiment, Funeral Service Held.

EL PASO, Tex., July 6.—The bodies of Capt. Charles T. Boyd, Lieut. Henry Adair and seven troopers of the Tenth Cavalry, killed at Carrizal, were brought to El Paso today at 5:30 a. m. Only the two officers and Private Dewitt Rucker have been identified.

Eight of the Americans were exhumed from a single grave, according to the undertakers who brought back the bodies. The dead had been gathered from the field of battle and cast into a ditch, which was then filled up.

Capt. Boyd, Lieut. Adair and six troopers, stripped of their uniforms, were found together in the ditch. The body of the ninth trooper was found 150 miles distant from the others. He had been wounded and apparently had dragged himself away from the scene of the fight.

Delivery Earlier Than Expected.

Gen. Bell had not expected the bodies to be delivered so early in the morning and the Eighth Cavalry, which had been detailed from Fort Bliss to act as an escort, was not on hand. An impromptu guard was formed, however, from soldiers of the Seventh Infantry camped near the bridge. The bodies of the three officers and six troopers were placed in the car, while the remainder stood at attention as it rolled off the bridge, upon American soil.

Word was immediately sent to Fort Bliss and the Eighth Cavalry was approximately 600 cases—a mortality that far surpasses that in any past experience with the disease.

By the time the Eighth reached the death car at 10:30 a. m., thousands of persons had gathered along the streets. The cavalry drew up at attention while 21 negro troopers, survivors of the Carrizal engagement, took a station at the car's entrance, directly behind Gen. Bell and his staff.

The caskets were taken from the car, covered with flags and placed in ambulances, while the mounted band of the Eighth Cavalry played "Nearer, My God, to Thee." A squadron of cavalry led a march to undertaking rooms, where it has been decided to hold the bodies for the present.

The band played the Chopin Funeral March. Squads of dismounted men flanked the ambulances, behind each of which a riderless horse was led. Two of the horses were Carrizal survivors. The officers and men followed and the cortege moved off between lines of people who bared their heads as it passed.

At the chapel of the undertaking establishment a brief funeral service was read by Chaplain W. W. Brander of the Eighth Cavalry.

It was announced that the identified bodies would be turned over to the relatives and that the others probably would be sent to Arlington Cemetery, Washington, for burial.

Although the members of the undertaking force that made the trip to Carrizal were shown every courtesy by the Mexican officials, they said the populace in the vicinity of Villa Ahumada showed considerable enmity. They were not hindered in their work, however, they said.

One of them, O. J. Wilson, recounted the story of the trip as follows:

"We arrived in Villa Ahumada Tuesday afternoon, having with us metallic caskets and wooden covers for 14 men. These were loaded upon a motor truck and we immediately set out for Carrizal.

"We did not begin work until Wednesday morning, but our task, although disagreeable, was not hard. We found eight bodies in a single grave and the closing clause provides that the son and daughter shall not be required to file an inventory or appraisal or give bonds and 'shall not be required to account in or to be subject to the jurisdiction of the Probate Court.'

The will, filed after the funeral of Mrs. Green here yesterday, is dated March 28, 1911. After directing that all expenses incurred through Mrs. Green's illness and funeral shall be paid promptly, the following 'tokens of esteem' are bequeathed: Mrs. Herbert E. Bancroft of New York, a friend of Mrs. Green, $500; Amory A. Lawrence of Boston, $10,000; Ruth Lawrence, New York, $500; and Matthew Astor Wilks, husband of Mrs. Green's daughter, as 'an appreciation of having made an anti-natal relinquishment of any claim on his wife's property.'

The will disposes of the estate of Mrs. Green's husband as directed in his will. This property goes to the son and daughter.

All jewelry, household furniture, portraits, paintings and other personal effects of Mrs. Green are to be divided equally between son and daughter as they may agree.

The will provides that nearly $500,000 in bonds and mortgages shall be held in trust by the son and daughter for 20 years. The income to be given to the daughter every three months, and the daughter to revert to her at the termination of the trust.

The residue of the estate is left to the son and daughter 'in trust for 15 years.' No stipulation appears in the will as to the disposition of the estate after the trust expires.

Col. Green and Mrs. Wilks are named as joint executors.

MRS. GREEN'S SON AND DAUGHTER GET HER VAST WEALTH

She Bequeaths on Only Few 'Tokens of Esteem' Otherwise.

BELLEVILLE, Ill., July 6.—The will of Mrs. Hetty Green, long known as the wealthiest woman in America, leaves the bulk of her estate to her son, Col. E. H. Green, and her daughter, Mrs. Matthew Astor Wilks. The remainder is distributed in smaller bequests to old friends of Mrs. Green.

No estimate of the total value of the estate is contained in the will, and the closing clause provides that the son and daughter shall not be required to file an inventory or appraisal or give bonds and 'shall not be required to account in or to be subject to the jurisdiction of the Probate Court.'

Wilson told him admiring stories of the bravery of Lieut. Adair. According to the Mexicans, Adair, after being wounded, used his pistol. When he had applied it he grabbed another and kept on fighting until he was killed.

FRENCH AND BRITISH ADVANCES ON SOMME ADMITTED BY BERLIN

English Capture Trench Salient and Make Some Progress Near Thiepval.

GERMANS EVACUATE HEM, TWO MILES FROM PERONNE

Paris Says 76 Guns and Hundreds of Machine Guns Have Already Been Captured in Drive—Teutons Capture Two Woods in Local Engagements.

Berlin, via London, July 6.—Between the Ancre Brook and the River Somme and in the region south of the river, says today's German official statement, fighting continues. Minor progress made by British troops near Thiepval, it is added, was balanced by counter-attacks. Further to the south the British succeeded in obtaining a firm foothold in an advanced trench salient.

The headquarters staff announced that the small village of Hem, in the Somme Valley, has been evacuated by the Germans. Belloy-en-Santerre, southwest of Peronne, has been captured by the French. The fighting around Estrees, it is added, has come to a standstill.

The statement says:

"Western theater: From the coast to the Ancre Brook artillery activity increased in strength from time to time. Otherwise there was no change.

"Between the Ancre Brook and the Somme and to the south of the Somme fighting continues. Minor progress made by the English near Thiepval was balanced by counter-attacks.

"In an advance trench salient further south they succeeded in obtaining a firm foothold.

"The small village of Hem, in the Somme Valley, was evacuated by us.

"The French captured Belloy-en-Santerre. Around Estrees the fighting has come to a standstill.

"In the Oise district the enemy attempted a vain attack on a narrow front south of Ville-aux-Bois, costing him serious losses."

"On the left bank of the Somme there were minor infantry engagements favorable for us.

"On the right bank enemy advances in the wood southwest of Vaux Fort were repulsed. Similar attempts were undertaken yesterday in the early hours of the morning to recapture the Damouville Hill battery.

"In the fighting in the region of Thiepval front work we took on Tuesday 274 prisoners.

"At Chesalles, east of Lunerville, a German reconnoitering party returned with 31 prisoners and much booty.

"Southwest of Cambrai an enemy aviator in the morning attacked a stationary hospital train from a low altitude by dropping bombs. Six wounded soldiers were killed."

French Advance to Outskirts of Peronne; 76 Guns Taken

PARIS, July 6.—Last night was generally quiet north and south of the river Somme, says today's official statement of the War Office.

There were a few local engagements north of the Somme during the night in which the Germans captured two small woods a kilometer north of Hem. The French also captured a wood.

South of the Somme the night passed quietly. A German counter attack on Belloy was repulsed easily.

The French have captured 76 cannon and several hundred machine guns.

There was no entry fighting on the Verdun front. The War Office says the Germans are attempting to bombard the Cathedral at Verdun.

The statement follows:

"North of the River Somme there were last night a number of local engagements. A counter attack by the Germans took from us two little woods situated one kilometer (two-thirds of a mile) north of Hem. An attack by our troops resulted in our gaining another wood situated in the northeastern boundary of the same valley.

"South of the River Somme the night passed quietly along the major part of the front. A counter attack directed by the Germans upon Belloy was easily repulsed.

"The number of cannon captured by French troops which it has been possible to enumerate up to the present time reaches 76. We also have taken machine guns to the number of several hundred.

"The Germans have delivered a ferocious attack upon the Cathedral of Verdun; last night they endeavored systematically to reach this building with large caliber shells."

"Near Thiepval, on the Somme front, we made a further slight advance and captured a number of prisoners," the British War Office announced today.

"South of La Bassée Canal, after the discharge of gas and smoke, we made some successful raids into the enemy's first line. In one of these the Royal Welsh Fusiliers especially distinguished themselves, capturing 60 prisoners, a trench mortar and machine gun."

"In another raid the Highland Light Infantry successfully entered the enemy's trenches west of Hulluch. A machine gun emplacement was destroyed, many Germans were killed and some prisoners were taken."

"There was no change of importance on the rest of our front."

The French are now in the outskirts of Peronne, the great railway center which is their first objective in their advance.

EAST ST. LOUIS TO SELL U. S. 27,300
HORSES AND MULES

Contracts Awarded to National Stockyards Dealers Amount to $3,940,000.

Stockyards in East St. Louis, who market two weeks ago, have awarded contracts to supply 100 horses and 700 mules. At an estimated average price of $150 each for horses and $130 each for mules, these contracts call for an expenditure of about $940,000.

T. H. Holland, president of the

T. H. Holland, president of the land-Maxwell Commission Co., said his firm has contracts to supply 10,000 artillery horses, from 15½ to 16 hands high, weighing from 1100 to 1200 pounds; 1500 regulation cavalry horses, 13 to 14 hands high, and 1000 small carriage horses, from 14½ to 15 hands. All horses must be solid colors, no bay or or spotted horses being eligible. The entire number must be supplied within 60 days.

Reid said. However, only 200 horses will be inspected at the National Penitentiary. The mules and 4500 horses must be concentrated at western points where these must be supplied within 30 days. The Maxwell-Crouch Mule Co. has a contract to supply 1000 mules, and several other mule firms will furnish the balance between them. The 1700 must be shipped in 30 days.

Holland said that while some of the animals will be shipped to various parts, the largest number will be sent direct to the border. He said he believes the contracts can be filled on time.

Buying Has Been Began.

The Government inspectors started buying yesterday. Horses will have to be inspected and accepted at the same time.

Will Signed.

The will was signed by the office of Mortimer, with attorneys with whom the will was yards at the rate of about 250 a day, and the French at the rate of about 65 a day, in order to fill the contract on time. The United States contracts will have the effect of virtually throwing the French and Belgians out of the market.

Competition for horses has become keen that French, British, Belgian and Italians have made open contracts with the army.

all the big firms to take just as many horses as they can get. The Negroes have got out of the East St. Louis riot because of the inadequate work and have moved their inspection centers further west.

have averaged about the same since the entire front, and the French now firmly installed between the German second and third lines of defense over a front in excess of seven miles.

French Losses Small.

That the French losses have been comparatively insignificant is indicated by the maintenance on the front line of attack at their own request of the usual two army corps that made the first assault on the German positions last September.

Ellers denied Green's statement.

Says Green Was Right.

Ellers, on direct question, said that Green was right.

Friday morning. One of these corps distinguished itself before Verdun in February after having won laurels in the battle of the Marne and at all parts of the front where there has been hard fighting. Other corps comprise mostly colonial troops. The Generals commanding each corps were again congratulated yesterday by Gen. Foch.

Not all the divisions of these corps corps have been actually in action, basing the calculations upon what was made prisoner by these troops. It is French clearly appear to have been only slightly in comparison with the forces with which they were engaged. This result is attributed by German prisoners to the efficiency of the French heavy artillery.

27 DOMINICANS AND ONE MARINE KILLED IN FIGHT

Engagement Occurred July 1 Before Disarmament Plan Was Agreed To.

WASHINGTON, July 6.—Another engagement between 250 revolutionists in Santo Domingo and American marines, in which 27 Dominicans were killed and five captured and one marine killed and eight wounded, was reported to the navy today by Rear-Admiral Caperton. The fight occurred July 1 before the tentative agreement was made for the disarmament of the rebels.

The Dominican revolutionists have agreed to lay down their arms pending further negotiations looking to the establishment of a new government with American supervision over the republic's affairs.

The agreement was announced in a dispatch received late yesterday from Rear Admiral Caperton.

AMERICANS DESERT CANADIAN ARMY TO FIGHT FOR U. S.

Two Say Mexican Crisis Led Them To Desert and Return to This Country.

BUFFALO, N. Y., July 6.—Harry Morgan and Louis J. Damasc, Americans, reached the American side of the Niagara River gorge after deserting from the Canadian army to return and fight for the United States. They fled Canada amid a rain of bullets from the guns of the bridge patrol, part of the way crawling upon a platform under the floor of the bridge far above the river.

When they reached this side, they were held by immigration officials. Arraigned in police court, the two told the court that upon hearing of the trouble in Mexico, they decided to fight under the Stars and Stripes if anywhere.

Judge Piper returned the men to the immigration officers, who released them when they showed papers to prove their citizenship.

The men told the court they enlisted in the Canadian army in a spirit of adventure. Scores of other young men, they said, were awaiting an opportunity to return and serve with the United States army.

THIRD REGIMENT DEMORALIZED BY MACHINE POLITICS

Commander and Captain, Both Adherents of Gov. Major, Disqualified.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
NEVADA, Mo., July 6.—Machine politics in Kansas City, injected into the management of the Third Regiment of the National Guard of Missouri in such a way as to demoralize the staff organization, has been the deterring factor that has held back the approval of the regiment by the War Department and kept it here with no definite date yet set for its departure. It was learned today by the Post-Dispatch correspondent that this is true was confirmed by Adjutant-General John B. O'Meara, who questioned by the reporter, placed the blame upon Fred A. Lamb, one of Gov. Major's Kansas City Police Commissioners, who was Colonel of the regiment up to a week ago, when he resigned because of illness.

Developments late yesterday, which included the disqualification by the medical examiners of the regiment's commander, Col. P. J. Kealy, $25,000 a year president of the Kansas City Railway Co., and of Capt. Coe of the headquarters company, caused United States army officers here to be more hopeful of the approval of the regiment, which would mean its early start south. Col. Kealy is a close friend of former Col. Lamb, and according to Gen. O'Meara, offered no hope of a departure from the politically-controlled administration of the regiment.

Lieutenant-Colonel C. A. Martin, U. S. A., whose selection for the position was approved by the War Department, will take command of the regiment. Although Col. Kealy asserts that he will try again to pass the physical examination, having been given about a month to try to remedy his deficiency, it is generally believed among the camp officers that he is out of it for good.

They point out that when the Medical Corps finished the examination yesterday afternoon it decided he had qualified and that he then voluntarily called attention to stomach ulcers, which he said were the result of a recent illness that confined him to a hospital. That led to his disqualification. The elimination of Capt. Coe, who was found to have a slight affection requiring an operation, removed the chief objection of the United States Army inspectors, who is here, and of the War Department, to the recognition of the regiment. No reason was given for the objection to Coe, but it is known that he has been close to Lamb politically.

The headquarters company of which Coe was Captain, the supply company and the machine gun company are the three needing approval to gain Federal standing for the regiment. With a new man in Coe's place and the objection to the supply company removed by the fact of a new commander being over the regiment, it is predicted that recognition will be forthcoming. Without regimental recognition the nine approved companies would ultimately have been sent to the border as two detached battalions.

"Politics has made the Third Regiment the only black spot in the Missouri militia," Gen. O'Meara said. "I saw more than a year ago that the regiment was going down and I warned Col. Lamb. Last year the demoralization of the headquarters staff was such that the Brigade Staff refused to allow the Third to hold an encampment at State expense. A fund was subscribed in Kansas City and a poor encampment was held at Excelsior Springs.

"I urged a reorganization, but Col. Lamb insisted upon being re-elected, for vindication, he said, and promised to resign immediately afterward. He did not do so, remaining at the head of the regiment until the national guards were called out."

Col. Kealy assured the reporter that he intends to try to pass the examination later and rejoin his regiment. "Of course, if I do not pass," he said, "I will not need to resign. I will be out automatically." He credited reports circulated in camp to the effect that he does not want to go to the border to enemies who, he said, are trying to embarrass the regiment. He denied being politically controlled by Lamb. He has been in the regiment only since last November, at first as Lieutenant-Colonel, and as to the political activity before that, he did not know.

WASHINGTON, July 6.—A list of 23 regular army officers authorized to accept commissions in the National Guard has been given out by the War Department. Under the new regulations only one regular officer may be assigned to a National Guard regiment. The assignments made thus far, all of which were specifically requested by State authorities, include:

Capt. Raymond Sheldon, Infantry, to Lieutenant-Colonel Second Illinois Infantry; Capt. Albert B. Sloan, Infantry, to Lieutenant-Colonel Second Arkansas Infantry; Lieut. Horace M. Hickam, Seventh Cavalry (now in Mexico), to Lieutenant-Colonel or Colonel Indiana National Guard; Capt. Carl A. Martin, Second Infantry, to Lieutenant-Colonel Third Missouri Infantry.

SHIP WILHELMINA, FACTOR IN INTERNATIONAL DISPUTE, SUNK

Vessel Whose St. Louis Cargo Was Seized by England Is Run Down by Brazilian Transport.

RIO JANEIRO, July 6.—The American steamer Wilhelmina, 106 tons, from New York to this port via Barbados, was sunk yesterday morning in a collision with the Brazilian naval transport, Sargento Albuquerque. It is not thought that any lives were lost.

The Sargento Albuquerque was entering Rio Janeiro harbor when she collided with the Wilhelmina.

The Wilhelmina figured prominently in international interchanges for more than a year after her cargo was seized by the British authorities on Feb. 11, 1915, while she was bound from New York for Hamburg, Germany, with a load of grain, flour and other foodstuffs shipped by a St. Louis commission house. Shortly after the seizure the cargo was turned into the prize court. The steamer herself was released April 21.

A settlement in principle of the case was agreed upon between the American owners of the foodstuffs and the British Government in April, 1915, and Baron Mersey was appointed arbitrator. The case dragged along for more than a year, however, a British offer to settle for $30,000 having been refused, and it was not until June 4 of this year that it was announced that both sides had presented their briefs to Baron Mersey, who is to decide upon the amount to be paid to the owners of the cargo.

INDIAN POET COMING TO U. S. TO LECTURE ON ART

Mr. Rabindranath Tagore to Leave Japan Where He Has Been Studying Psychology of People.

TOKIO, July 6.—Mr. Rabindranath Tagore, the renowned Indian poet, who has arrived in Japan to study the psychology of the people, will probably leave for the United States by the end of July. He will deliver a series of lectures in the United States, expounding his ideas on literature and art. It is likely that he will spend the winter there, and in the spring, if the war is over, cross to England.

In Tokio the poet seeks to adhere as closely as possible to his normal life. He rises seldom later than 3 o'clock in the morning and passes four hours in meditation. He believes that if by reflection and repose one can still the surface of thought the deeper subconscious ideas come to their owner.

At 7 o'clock he takes tea and after tea he works till 11, when he bathes and has a meal. He tries to sleep a little in the afternoon and he retires at 10. He is content normally with five hours' sleep.

GOVERNORS CANNOT DISCHARGE MILITIAMEN WHEN CALLED OUT

State Supreme Court Holds Interests in Any Amount for Owner's Use May Be Forfeited.

BOSTON, July 6.—Interpretation of some of the uncertain provisions of the new law affecting the national guard was contained in a telegram from Major-General Albert L. Mills, received by Adjutant-General Charles H. Cole.

"All officers and men of the organized militia called forth, irrespective of whether they take the new oath, must under the law present themselves for muster," the message stated, adding that "the Governor may not discharge them."

"Enlisted men of the national guard sent are not to be mustered into service and after rejection should be discharged by the Governor," the telegram said. "Organized militiamen called forth may be mustered into service as organized militia without taking the new Federal oath. Governors may not accept resignation of officers who have been called forth until after they have presented themselves for muster and have been passed upon by a mustering officer. Vacancies among officers of organized militia or national guard called forth may be filled by the Governor under state laws, subject to qualification as to future examination as prescribed by national defense act."

PERSONAL LIQUOR SUPPLY NOT LIMITED BY WASHINGTON LAW

State Supreme Court Holds Interests in Any Amount for Owner's Use May Be Forfeited.

SEATTLE, Wash., July 6.—City and county officials here are in somewhat of a quandary as to the extent of their authority under the prohibition law, in view of a State Supreme Court decision yesterday, which held that it is not illegal for a person to possess for personal use any amount of liquor, providing it was obtained in a legal manner.

The court's ruling ordered the dismissal of charges against W. E. Boeding and John C. Eden, Seattle millionaires, accused of having more than the legal amount of liquor in their possession. The decision held that the provision of the prohibition law limiting the amount of liquor in a person's possession to two quarts of whisky and 12 quarts of beer applied only to cases where the liquor was kept for the purpose of sale. A dissenting opinion held that the decision virtually annuls the prohibition law.

GERMANS MAKE A RECORD IN INCREASED SAVINGS ACCOUNTS

Big Cycles and Industrial Savings Accounts for the Year.

THE HAGUE, via London, July 6.—According to the Spiegel, the organ of the German savings banks, new savings accounts during the second year of the war have increased in Germany as never before the industrial regions and big cities alone indicating an increase of 28,000 accounts. The excess of deposits over withdrawals is 2,500,000 marks ($812,000,000). The total increase in the capital of savings banks is 1,250,000,000 marks ($406,250,000). AMERICAN PATROL ESCAPES TRAP OF CARRANZA TROOPS

Three Mexicans Fire on Pershing
Detail in Effort to Induce It to Give Pursuit.

FIELD HEADQUARTERS, Colonia
Dublan, Chihuahua, July 2, via motor courier to Columbus, N. M., July 3.—
Three hundred Carranzista cavalrymen attempted to ambush a scouting patrol of 20 American cavalrymen north of Guerrero recently, and only by skillful maneuvering did the American commander save his detachment. It was learned here today. The incident occurred shortly after Gen. Trevino notified Gen. Pershing that he would resist any movement of American troops other than northward as hostile.

The soldiers, a detachment of the Seventh Cavalry under Lieut. Horace M.
Hickam, were in search for bandits
which were believed to have their headquarters in a zinc mine about 30 miles from the American base.

Not finding any bandits they started back and had turned into the main road,
the entrance to a canyon, when three Mexicans, half a mile to the south, opened fire. Immediately the troops replied and the Mexicans ran, disappearing over the top of a ridge.

Lieut. Hickam did not follow, realizing that the terrain in that direction formed a natural trap and that the territory to the south was not under personal control.

The Americans turned north, trotting into the canyon. As they went down the hill a trooper galloped up from the rear, reporting that about 300 armed mounted Mexicans had dashed over the ridge where the three Mexicans had fled and were pursuing the Americans.

Hickam started for a hill farther up the canyon, there to make a stand if too hard pressed. The American horses, wearied by the long march they already had made, lost ground to the pursuing column.

When the Carranzistas seemed about to overtake him, Lieut. Hickam led them off the road into a rock-walled depression 10 feet deep, where a huge oak hid them from view.

HUNDREDS PAY LAST RESPECTS TO WILLIAM DESMOND

Services for Former Detective
Chief Today at St.
Ann's Church.

The funeral services for William Desmond, former St. Louis Chief of Detectives, were held at St. Ann's Church, at 9 a. m. today, after hundreds of old-
time friends had called at the residence, 4250 Page boulevard, to pay their last respects to the once-famous thief catcher.

Among the callers was Patrolman John J. Regan, who is still in active police service at the age of 72. It was Regan who "broke in" Desmond when he joined the force as a probationary policeman 21 years ago. Thomas Purcell, who has been in the Police Department 50 years,
also was a caller. He is signal officer at the Mounted District station.

Though it was advertised that the funeral would be private, this did not restrain those who wished to pay final tribute to the departed Chief.

John J. Keely, Desmond's partner in his private detective agency, estimated that at least 500 persons visited the home last night.

Marquette Council, Knights of Columbus, of which Desmond was a member, sent 150 watchers and the Holy Name Sodality of St. Ann's Parish was represented by 100.

Police Chief Young, Detective Chief Allender, Bertillon Chief Shea, former Mayor Noonan and former Police Chief Kieley attended the funeral.

The requiem mass was said by the Rev. Thomas J. Walsh, who also delivered the funeral sermon. Interment was in Calvary cemetery.

GERMAN CAMPAIGN TO RENEW U-BOAT WARFARE GOES ON

Agitators Against Chancellor's Conciliatory Policy Neglect No Opportunity.

By Associated Press.
BERLIN, via London, July 6.—The campaign in favor of the resumption of a full-fledged submarine war on commerce goes energetically forward. It was expected that with the adjournment of the Reichstag and the dispersal of politicians to their homes for the summer this agitation by the Navy League, publicists, conservatives and part of the National Liberals would pass the climax and gradually lose its intensity. On the contrary reports from all sections of the country indicate that the agitation is continuing with undiminished vigor, both above and below the surface. Never a day passes without articles in various newspapers to remind the people that, according to the German note, the modification in German submarine methods merely was temporary and contingent upon a modification of the British blockade. Advocates of the "unrestricted torpedo" appear at almost every political gathering. Various newspapers in sympathy with the movement have almost daily a list of what they call "British postal robberies" and over and again attention is called to the fact that the blockade has not undergone the slightest modification since the dispatch of the latest German note.

Hostility to Chancellor Shows.
The purpose of the agitation is, of course, twofold. One branch of it is directed toward the resumption of the submarine campaign which is felt to be the only effective naval weapon against Great Britain. The other has developed openly and avowedly into a movement against the Chancellor, Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg, largely on the ground of internal politics. Some judges of the situation, basing their opinion on the extent and vigor of the agitation, are inclined to believe the movement will lead, not later than September, to a revival of the submarine campaign on the old lines. Recent inquiries by the Associated Press in executive quarters indicate, however, that the Government for the present has no intention of resuming the "freedom of action" mentioned in the May note and of provoking conflict with the United States.

One reason for this decision, which tends to become stronger the longer war is continued, is the desire to avoid any new measures tending to prolong the war. Another is based upon the conviction that the faith of the present administration now is so closely bound up with the submarine issue that a reversal of policy would entail opposition from the ranks of the Government. The situation in this respect has changed since the beginning of the war. It then seemed as if the Chancellor's policy of moderation had scarcely a friend in Germany, outside of the Socialists and part of the Progressive party, but since then the issue has been sharply drawn and a full realization has come that one purpose of the agitation was to down the Chancellor.

Chancellor Wins Supporters.
The influential Catholic center party has enrolled itself almost solidly in his support. The South German states have lined up firmly behind him and those sections of public opinion which have reason to fear conservative domination of the administration have made their choice between submarines and junkers and have joined the Chancellor's party. The navy, too, has had its taste of fighting, in a contest for another battle with the British fleet and is devoting all its energies and attention to prepare for so that the old impatience of navy officers for action has become a less prominent factor in the movement. All in all, the clouds over German-American relations are less lowering than for a long time.

$6000 A MONTH FOR MRS. HILL

Widow of Railroad Magnate and Children Granted Temporary Allowances.

ST. PAUL, Minn., July 6.—Mrs. Mary T. Hill, widow, will receive $6000 a month and six of her children $100 each annually during the probating of the estate of James J. Hill, according to an order of Judge E. W. Baillie. The order was granted on the petition of Louis Hill, administrator of the estate.

In the petition it was stated that each of the children named was accustomed to receiving this sum during the lifetime of Mr. Hill. The preliminary estimate of the value of the estate was $50,000,000, but Hill admitted the real value is considerably more. It is reported the valuation will exceed $100,000,000.

$609,400 DECREE SIGNED IN MISSOURI EDISON CASE

Attorneys for Seventy Minority Stockholders to Get $100,000, Dispute Over Fee Being Settled.
The decree awarding $609,400 to the 70 minority stockholders of the old Missouri Edison Electric Co. who refused to sell out to the Union Electric Light & Power Co. at $50 a share in 1903, was signed last night by Judge Jacob Trier at the Hotel Jefferson. They sued for the actual value of the stock, which the court held was $180.20 a share. The decree includes a provision by which the court holds $100,000 of the judgment in trust as a fee for the attorneys who conducted the litigation for the minority stockholders. The question of what this fee should be caused a hitch yesterday in closing the litigation. The attorneys, Douglas W. Robert, Elenous Smith, W. B. Thompson and D. T. Bomar of Fort Worth, Tex., demanded $100,000. Nearly all the plaintiffs agreed to this amount, but one, Frank A. Rut of the Astikamnia Chemical Co., objected to paying them more than $50,000. The attorneys stated that the dispute had been settled.

Woman Bites Her Captor.

Mrs. Margaret Warren, 22 years old, of Bonne Terre, Mo., resisted the efforts of a policeman to take her to the inebriate ward last night. John Elliot, stopping at the Panama Hotel, went to the policeman's assistance and was bitten on the right hand by Mrs. Warren. She was finally landed at the city hospital.

FARMERS' LOBBY TO WATCH PENNSYLVANIA LEGISLATURE

State Grange, Dairy and Truck Interests Unite to Maintain Restatement in Harrisburg.

HARRISBURG, Pa., July 6.—Farm
agents, representatives of the Patrons of Husbandry and men identified in an active way with truck farming, horticulture, dairy farming and other branches of agriculture have taken definite steps to weld themselves into a community of interests and maintain headquarters here during the session of the Legislature next winter. A real
"farmers' lobby" is the end in view.

William T. Cressy was chairman of the meeting. He was here both as a State granger and as a representative of the Dairy Union. John A. McSparren, master of the State Grange, also was present. C. J. Tyson of Florida, one of the Cumberland valley's leading orchard men; R. J. Walton of Hummel-town, leader in market gardening; F.
F. Stevens, farm agent for the Lehigh Valley Railroad, were among those present.

Mr. Cressy said: "We're going to have headquarters here during the Legislature. We want to have an office with a clerk who can keep track of all agricultural legislation and other matters of interest to us."

The plan is the first one devised that is calculated to bring the railroads and the farmers up to the legislative barrier in solid formation.

GIRL REFUSES TO SALUTE
FLAG; 600 GO ON A STRIKE

Union Employees of Shoe Factory Decline to Work With Her, and She Is Ordered Dismissed.

LYNN, Mass., July 6.—Because she refused to salute the American flag on the factory of the Allen Poster and Willett Shoe Co., Miss Edith Kinnin-ness caused a strike of more than 200
women, who refused to work with her.
Three hundred men later joined in the strike and the owners of the factory ordered the building closed. Officials of the United Shoe Workers of America ordered the girl be dismissed from her job.

The firm carried out the instructions
of the union officials, and on Monday morning the 600 employees will be back at their benches.

"I did not consider it my duty to salute the flag, because it was not accompanied by the flag of the State of Massachusetts," the girl is quoted as saying to some of the strikers.

"I respect the American flag as much as anyone," the girl is quoted as saying, "because my father fought in the Civil War, but it seems to me the only time it should be saluted is when it is accompanied by the State colors."

OFTEN ILL, BUT IS 102

Britain Says He Has No Rules for Longevity.

OFFERTON, England, July 6.—Joseph Froggart, who has just celebrated his 102d birthday, afforded marked contrast with those venable persons who delight in recounting the tales of habit and conduct which have brought them longevity. He says there is no golden highway to advanced age, and that he has had enough illnesses to kill half his neighbors.

Froggart has 14 grandsons serving in the army. His eldest son is 75 years old and his youngest great-grandchild a month old.

Old Soldier Is Rehearsed.
Henry G. Walls, an ex-soldier, 73 years old, of 422 Horton place, was "rehearsed" and choked by two negroes near his home last night. They took $6 from him.

INJURED TOE FINANCE FACTOR

It Belongs to Frank A. Vanderlip.
Without Whom Wall Street Worries.

NEW YORK, July 6.—A fractured great toe is seriously interfering with Wall Street. It is delaying negotiations for the flotation of the $100,000,000 French loan, holding up action in the big Chinese loan, and is clogging the wheels of the banking community in diverse other ways.

The toe belongs to Frank A. Vander-lip, president of the National City Bank.
Vanderlip took a plunge in his swimming pool at his residence at Scarborough-on-the-Hudson July 4 and misad-ventured the depth. The accident was the result. He will not be able to return to his desk for about 10 days.

As he is an important factor in the deals pending, the conferees are forced to go to Scarborough every time Van-derlip's views are needed.

Woolley to Direct Publicity.
NEW YORK, July 6.—Announcement was made today at the headquarters of the Democratic National Committee that Robert W. Woolley, Director of the Mint, has been selected as publicity manager of the Democratic national campaign. Woolley had charge of publicity matters four years ago. The selection of Woolley will result in his resignation from his official position within a few days, in case he accepts.

SAYS VILLA IS NEAR PARRAL

American Claims to Have Information That Bandit Has 1000 Men.

EL PASO, Tex., July 6.—Rumors continuous to reach here concerning the whereabouts of Pancho Villa. The latest was brought here by an American who had extensive interests in Southern Chihuahua. It is to the effect that Villa recently sent a communication to Canu-to Reyes, his former lieutenant, who was recently appointed by the de facto Government, asking him to reconquer his decision. This message Reyes turned over to Gen. Jacinto Trevino, Carranista commander of the army of the north, it was said.

The American asserted he had definite information that Villa, at the time he sent for Reyes, was at San Juan Bautispa, about 30 miles south of Parral,
and had with him 1000 men.

TRAIN LEAVES THREE MILITIAMEN

They Tell Kansas City Police They Got Off to See Food.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 6.—Three
New Jersey militiamen stood under the Union Station train sheds watching the tail lights of their train fade under the Broadway viaduct. At police headquarters where they were taken, the three said they had had nothing to eat yesterday except three prunes and a chunk of hardtack. They had left the train, they explained, to beg some food and the train left them.

They were fed and arrangements were made to send them to their regiment.

MILITARY TRAINING IN HIGH SCHOOLS PUT UP TO BOARD

Delegation Advocates It Before Special Committee and the Superintendent.

Superintendent of Schools Blawett and a committee of the Board of Education yesterday afternoon began formal consideration of a proposed plan for military instruction in the high schools of St. Louis under the provisions of the recently enacted Federal law.

The school authorities received a delegation which included Walter H. Saunders, Gen. E. J. Spencer, George S. John, George Tansey, Edward K. Love, M. L. Wilkinson and Horace John, secretary of the St. Louis branch, National Security League.

The delegation urged that military instruction of youths more than 14 years old in the high schools would have pronounced educational advantages, and that within a few years it would accomplish much for preparedness.

Under the new law, the Government will provide a military instructor and equipment in any school in which there are 100 boys to receive the benefit of the instruction. There are five high schools for white students in St. Louis.

Neither Supt. Blawett nor the members of the committee made any promise that the plan will be put into effect, and did not express an opinion. It is expected the committee will report to the board at its next meeting.

The Sunny Club of Webster Groves, which annually aids the children of St. Louis in protecting the babies in homes where destitution rules from the serious ailments attending high temperature, is among the contributors to the Post-Dispatch Pure Milk and Free Ice Fund acknowledged today. It is a fixed event on the schedule of these little girls and boys of the picturesque neighborhood, and always there is a well-ordered program of entertainment charmingly presented.

This year it was one of the best in the club's splendid record, including a variegated assortment of numbers in which there was scope for individual talent displayed to best advantage. The affair was enjoyed by an audience that made the aggregate from a nominal admission fee $150. The little ones in the club are Misses Frances and Rosina Shephardson of 627 Sunnyvale avenue and Nancy K. Peluse of 80 Summit avenue. Masters Winthrop and Lester Towner of 80 Sunnyvale avenue and Gordon Taylor of 607 Sunnyvale.

Four young girls and three little boys, neighbors in the vicinity of 2435A Pestalozzi street, gave a captivating production of "Cinderella," followed by energetic sale of lemonade and other light refreshments at the residence named, realizing $5 for the benefit of the heat-distressed infants. It was one of the most delightful affairs given for the cause this season, and the sum raised indicates the broad sympathy enlisted by the girls and boys in that section of the city. The little workers are Misses Ethel Kamm, Martha and Mary Miller, Dorothy Richardson, Masters Robert Kamm, Victor Volkman and Howard Wies.

"Please use the two checks for $5 and $3, respectively, to help 'save the babies,'" Mrs. C. D. Morley of 2333 Russell avenue writes the Post-Dispatch. The checks are her own and that of Mrs. J. E. Gerichten of Los Angeles, Cal.

"My friend, Mrs. Gerichten, a former St. Louisan, on a visit here," Mrs. Morley adds, "and myself count it a privilege to contribute to this worthy cause."

The happiness attaching to aid of the cause of the babies through the Post-Dispatch Pure Milk and Free Ice Fund has been enjoyed by Mrs. Morley for several years, and the fact that she makes it an unbroken rule annually attests that she finds it something more than a mere duty.

Repetition of the annual experience of satisfaction from helping to save the babies is to be acknowledged also in the case of little Helen Linrother of 4122 North Twenty-first street, whose industrious and winning conduct of a lemonade stand realized $1.25.

In a vast majority of benefit enterprises and individual contributions in the current season's campaign it has been the work of those who have aided in past years, a fact in which is found the highest testimony to the joy derived from the effort expended and money devoted to the cause.

Inventor Kills Himself.

CHICAGO, July 6.—Emil R. Beckert, an inventor and president of a local manufacturing concern, killed himself in a downtown hotel last night by shooting. He was said to have invented the first electric washing machine. The immediate cause of his act is said to have been a notification from the Government Patent Office that a patent for an invention upon which he had spent $235,000 and upon which others, according to his attorney, had realized nearly $200,000, had been previously applied for.

WEEK REQUIRED TO CATCH UP ON GARBAGE HAULING

District North of Washington Avenue Is Being Attended To Today.

One hundred drivers of city garbage wagons today tackled, in the district north of Washington avenue, the big task of removing the garbage accumulated during their strike, which began last Friday. The garbage drivers and 120 other city teamsters, went back to work yesterday, after Mayor Kiel and President Hall of the Board of Aldermen had promised to rush the passage of a bill increasing their pay from $50 to $65 a month.

The men returned to work at 1:30 yesterday afternoon, and put in the rest of the day in the downtown hotel and market district, and on the South Side. Collections are made on alternate day on the North and South Sides, and every day in the downtown district.

1800 Tons of Garbage.

The amount of accumulated garbage, throughout the city, was estimated at 1800 tons. At Union Market, eight wagons were hauled away, instead of the usual daily one load. Hotels and apartment houses had overflowing receptacles, but the large grocery stores and commission houses had mostly taken the situation in hand and hauled their own garbage to the dumps.

The dead animals, 25 horses and three times as many dogs, were disposed of yesterday, the animal wagons working until after dark.

In parts of the West End the Health Department's advice to bury or burn garbage was followed. But in the residence district east of Jefferson avenue, neither plan was practicable. Back yards are small, and many of them are paved with brick, and no means of drying and incineration exist.

Throughout the city, Supt. Laxton said, it will take the men a week to catch up. Tomorrow the South Side will get a full day's attention from the garbage collectors, and Saturday the work north of Washington avenue will be resumed.

FOXES ON MOBILE ISLAND

Land in River Again Being Repopulated With Animals.

Mobile Island, in the Mississippi River, five miles south of Alton, is being repopulated with rabbits, raccoons, squirrels and foxes.

When the river covered the island in the spring all the animals that couldn't swim were drowned or were marooned on a high part of the island and killed by hunters. The island has been repopulated from the mainland by Ben Sawyer.

A large number of quail have flown back to the island and are living there.

SENATE DEMOCRATS AGAINST POSTPONING SHIPPING VOTE

Republicans Want the Bill Held Up Until the Next Session of Congress.

WASHINGTON, July 6.—A proposal from Republican Senators that if action on the Government shipping bill were deferred until the next session of Congress they would join with the majority in an agreement setting a date for a vote found little response last night when Senate Democrats met in caucus. Although no action was taken, a majority of the Senators present vigorously opposed the suggestion and insisted that the bill must be passed to a vote, even if it should result in holding Congress in session all summer.

Republicans Want the Bill Held Up Until the Next Session of Congress.

WASHINGTON, July 6.—A proposal from Republican Senators that if action on the Government shipping bill were deferred until the next session of Congress they would join with the majority in an agreement setting a date for a vote found little response last night when Senate Democrats met in caucus. Although no action was taken, a majority of the Senators present vigorously opposed the suggestion and insisted that the bill must be passed to a vote, even if it should result in holding Congress in session all summer.

The Republican proposal, it was declared, was coupled with a strong intimation that an effort to press the bill at this session would be met with persistent opposition and also with dilgatory tactics on other measures. It was decided to adjourn until Friday night. Republican Senators have called a conference for today, the original purpose having been to receive word of action by the Democrats.

Senators Simmons and Stone voted the views of the administration in the caucus, emphasizing the urgent necessity for action at this session on shipping legislation.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Military Training for Young Men.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Aside from other considerations, the great weakness of the present national guard organization has been the slowness of mobilization. After nearly two weeks less than 40,000 men are on their way to the border. Here is a plan which would work the great hardship, and would always have in training camp, and under arms, every day in the year, no less than 100,000 men, officered, equipped and more efficient than the militia of today.

Every year, in this country, there are at least 400,000 new male voters, unmarried and without dependents. Very well, then, let us start with the youth of 18 and compel him to serve the first year three months in camp, two months the second, and two months the third year. Thereafter he is simply a reserve.

These training camps should be in existence every month of the year. In November, December, January and February the Southern states could call out their boys. In March and April, and September and October, those in the Missouri belt, from the Atlantic to the Pacific, and in July and August, the states in the northern tier. This division is made, of course, for climatic reasons.

Should this plan be adopted there would be, after the first year, considerably more than 100,000 young men in actual camp, uniformed, equipped, and in far better shape physically for the real thing than our state militia is today.

The third year the number would be 200,000, besides the 100,000 serving the first term.

Then, if an emergency should arise like the present, a large force could be concentrated without delay at any point. And in reserve would be several hundred thousand other trained men who had but recently been in training camp and familiar with a soldier's duty. For each of these men, in every town and city, should be the necessary equipment—clothes, shoes, rifle and everything else ready for the call to arms.

This would cost some money, to be sure, but it is cheap insurance at that.

Some youths would have to be excused, of course, and others would be serving their enlistment period on college campuses, but the great mass of our young manhood would be trained to arms at the time most convenient for them and with the least hardship to others.

Punishment of Speeders.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I notice in tonight's paper an article by J. C. Henning on speed cases in court and for his benefit I wish to state that the law is very stringent in all speeding cases and the speeder never "gets off" without the payment of "cost of court" at least.

A man arrested for drunkenness or petty larceny or such charges has a better chance of escaping a fine than a speeder. So Mr. Henning, before making such statements please go down in Police Court some day, listen to the cases called and see what per cent of the speeders have their cases nolle prossed, and I think you will then change the percentage from 5 per cent fined to 95 per cent fined and 5 per cent escape sentence.

Wages of Park Department Employees.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I notice in the newspapers we are to have public dances in the play grounds this year again, and concerts in the parks, and plenty of them. Everything for amusement, but nothing for improvement and wages for the poor working man. Why, if the Park Department does not get enough money from the city budget, why do the park officials furnish free amusements at the employees' expense? I guess the help will be laid off in September, same as last year. Here is an example. The charter reads that city employees are to work eight hours, but there are men in the parks and bath houses of our city that work as long as 10 to 12 hours, because the city has not enough money to keep their full force. Look at the poor wages the Park Department pays, the lowest of any city in the United States. That is unbelievable, and still it is a fact. What do taxpayers think of this? Do you think we can be proud of this fact?

A TAXPAYER.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

"What fools these mortals be!" All this preparation for war. This spending of millions of money uselessly. This separation of fathers and sons, husbands and brothers. This preparation for the slaughter of ten thousand or more innocent people who are fathers, sons, husbands and brothers; and all for what? Just because one rash army officer thought Carranza soldiers would fight his negro troops! Must we murder for his folly? Where is our common sense?

C. C. SENSE.

SCHOOL MILITARY TRAINING.

We hope the Board of Education will act favorably on the contemplated plan of adopting a course of military training and instruction in the high schools under the provisions of the new Federal law providing equipment and instructors.

We believe the delegation of citizens who urged the board to act, under the law, expressed the sentiment of a great majority of citizens who favor military training for the youth as a means of education and development in health, morals and efficiency and as a preparation for any emergency of national defense that may arise.

The instruction, drill and discipline of military training are invaluable as foundations for successful effort in any useful occupation. The training of the youth in the schools practically solves the question of national preparedness for defense so far as it can be solved without obligatory universal training.

From Washington and Jefferson down every American leader who has had experience in national crises or who has studied the question testifies to the value of general military training from an educational as well as a national defense standpoint.

We must look upon this subject from the standpoint of citizens and public officials charged with responsibility for the welfare of the country. We must do our duty. We must take all necessary measures for the development of the efficiency of youth for peace and war. We must begin to build up a great, efficient citizen soldiery which will be prepared to defend the nation. We must prepare the youth of the land for the work they will be called upon to do in any walk of life. We ought to prepare them for the task of defense which may be vital to the life and well-being of the nation.

Where can the work of preparation begin better than in the public school, the great institution founded and supported to prepare boys and girls for the work of life and the duties of citizenship? The public school should be the pioneer and leader in this work, so that all the people may have opportunity to develop physically, mentally and morally and to serve the country efficiently when needed.

President Wilson, approving universal military training, spoke of the "compulsion of the spirit of America" which would induce every man to prepare to do his full duty. Of what value is this spirit if it is not translated into action? The Government offers equipment and instructors. Of what value is the offer of the Government if we refuse to co-operate with it? Of what value is the agitation in favor of preparedness and the awaking to the necessity of it if we do nothing? We have the opportunity to act. It would be creditable to St. Louis if our School Board should take the leadership in this matter. Its example would go far toward solving the practical problem of preparedness.

REAL TEST OF COURAGE.

I have escaped bits of horrible shrapnel by two and three feet, and snipers' bullets by inches, and I've eaten "bully beef" till the cows came home—the bravest deed of all—Letter of a British Captain.

Embalmers added to all the other horrors of this war?

"TAX GATHERERS AND HETTY GREEN."

It is stated that the fortune left by Hetty Green may have been even greater than had been supposed, and that unusual pains have been taken to guard it from "tax gatherers," an easy matter under the laws.

In the 51 years since Mrs. Green's father died, leaving her very wealthy, $1 compounded at 6 per cent would come to more than $21. To become enormously rich was, for her, easy; she had only to spend little, invest safely and live long.

Most states levy an inheritance tax, but a dozen of these, including Missouri, Kentucky and Vermont, exempt descendants. The late L. V. Harkness, whose quietly gained estate of more than $140,000,000 also surprised the public, lived mainly in New York, paid income tax in California and died intestate. Another home in Kentucky complicated a legal tangle which has cost New York some millions of tax money due under its laws. Sums as large as that left by Mrs. Green may dodge taxation or seek to dodge, by similar means.

Should the proposed revenue bills be enacted in Washington it will not be possible for vast fortunes which should contribute to the general burden to escape the net so easily. Whether or not a Federal inheritance tax is enacted, states like Kentucky, Ohio, Pennsylvania, New Hampshire and Texas are unaccountably neglecting a fruitful field for gathering revenue.

The camel has been chosen as the emblem of the Prohibitionists. It seems, however, that in every presidential campaign they have humped themselves in vain.

TOO MANY DROWNINGS.

While hundreds of persons, of both sexes, were disappearing themselves at the Fairground Pool July 4, with the opportunity to learn to swim under safe conditions, many others were enjoying the waters in nearby rivers and lakes, where the bather who cannot swim or can do so only feebly, is in danger. And the number of drownings proved the value of utilizing the city pools, with their guards and comparatively safe conditions, to the full.

With the existing rules in force at the Fairground Pool, on most days of the week, the man who can swim has no opportunity to teach his wife, sister or sweetheart to do so. He must go in without her, and she must learn, if she can, from some other woman, during the woman's hour. This is a case where a suspicion as to moral intentions acts as a bar to learning what might save life. Undoubtedly the Fairground Pool and the other public swimming pools are destined to greatly diminish the death rate from drowning. They should not be robbed of their usefulness by unnecessary red tape.

The capable garbage remover is entitled to every cent of the proposed increase. The fantabulous odors of the garbage can are little realized by most taxpayers.

NEW YORK'S INFANTILE SCOURGE.

A summer of moderate heat, marked by no interruption in the gradual improvement in living conditions that continues from year to year, has suddenly been made memorable by a startling and mysterious outbreak of infantile paralysis in New York and its suburbs.

This week began with 460 known cases of the disease and others in which it is suspected but not decisively diagnosed. From 35 to more than 100 new cases have been discovered daily for some time past. The deaths due to it are averaging more than one every hour.

Those afflicted of course make up only a negligible percentage of the total number of children in the populous section of which New York is the center. But because of its virulent nature, crippling and incapacitating the little ones whom it does not speedily destroy, any appearance of this disease and particularly its development in unusual numbers is terrifying.

The traffic between the metropolis and other parts of the country is so enormous, especially at this season of the year, that the early spread of the disease to the West and South is predicted. St. Louis must be on its guard.

Preventive medicine undoubtedly will gain much while the malady spreads sorrow. Its prevalence in so many homes scattered through so many different metropolitan districts is favorable to the study of its causation and the manner in which its infection is distributed. It is just possible that weather conditions may have something to do with this particular epidemic. Or with all our multiplicity of health regulations, points may be found at which safeguards have been neglected.

In the meantime, though physicians have learned something about methods of mitigating the effects of the scourge, no reliable agency for combating it is known and reliance must be placed on the well-known principles of sanitation to which resort is made in checking all communicable diseases. Destruction of flies is one measure on which emphasis is placed. Another is avoidance of crowds. Every "movie" theater in all New York has been closed to persons under 16 years of age.

FORTUNATE GEN. WASHINGTON.

Washington didn't have any Mexico on his hands—Mr. Taft to the School Teachers at New York.

But if Washington were alive now and did have a Mexico on his hands, does anybody suppose he would be denounced any less viciously than Mr. Wilson for trying to maintain the ideals of neighborliness and noninterference? Even the Colonel would be partly informing the General that war was preferable to that same kind of peace Washington himself maintained when he refused to begin hostilities at French dictation.

"TRAINING" FOR POLITICS.

Rear Admiral Peary declines to run for the Senate because he believes that it would be unwise for him to enter politics without training. It depends entirely upon which kind of politics he has in mind. The right sort requires no "training" whatever. The qualifications of integrity and intelligence suffice. Presidents have come up with no more. But the "practical" kind of politics that distinguishes politicians from public servants is a profession that men must "train" for. It is the practice of selfishness through craft and deceit. To fool, cajole and keep the public in line is the game and it is a hard one. The end, boss-ship and spoils, is without honor and not worth the pains and patience men give to it. There are bosses and bosses, but "good" bosses are so few and far between as to rank as freaks. A practical politician is often the ruination of a good man. Practical politics rarely develops the good in a bad man.

To be the tool of interests in the Senate of the United States, to serve graft in the highest manner of the republic, involving betrayal of the people and treason to the Government, is the ultimate of political degradation; but the true service of the people in that high post is almost incomparable honor, worthy of the greatest ambition, and requiring no training, but the highest qualifications.

An American writer has been denounced by the Colonel as "a malignant pustule." Perhaps there was no short word of sufficient force at hand.

BRITISH CONFIDENCE IN FOCH.

News that Gen. Foch is in command has increased the public confidence of England in the success of the campaign.—A War Dispatch.

Preparedness in England took the form of the only alternative to universal military service, army in the world—has imposed large costs on the taxpayers in this generation. The permanence of the service and the existence of efficient military schools giving entrance to that service have been supposed to be favorable to the development of highly specialized experts. In addition, England has had very few years a war with remote peoples, which, it might be assumed, would afford experience in transport, commissary, value of newly invented weapons, exercise of leadership.

But after 23 months of European war, England plus its faith, not to any Englishman whose personality has been long known to them, but to a Frenchman—to Joffre. Generalissimo of all the allied forces in France, but particularly in Foch, in immediate charge of the new campaign.

France's military system is vastly different from that of Germany. Here is an adjunct of republicanism. Her army is a democratic army organized on the basis of popular national rule. But it is giving a wonderful account of itself. Her brilliant coterie of capable, approachable Generals of qualities so human as easily to be understood by civilians is making an even more vivid impression on the world than Germany's coterie of grim Generals almost of superman type.

HAVING A SINCERE DESIRE FOR PEACE.

JUST A MINUTE

Written for the POST-DISPATCH by Clark McAdams

PANTELEA.

N O. Luella,
Mr. Wilson
Is not fighting

Very fast;
War to him,
It seems,
Is something
At which men
Should stand aghast.
It is not
For politicians
Just a means
Of getting by.
But a tragedy,
My dearie,
In which Multitudes
Would die.

This is not,
My little girl,
Quite the Customary view;
People may not
Wholly like it,
Seeing it
Is sort of new.
All the same
It is the finest
Thing in all
The world today,
And it has
The militarists
Closely hiding
In the hay.

Theodore
Can't abide it—
War to him
Is bread and meat;
Give him lots
Of blood and thunder,
And his triumph
Is complete.
He is just
A politician,
Waging war
Because it serves,
And his kind,
I think,
Is getting
On a lot
Of people's nerves.

Mr. Wilson,
Sweet Luella,
Is a vastly
Finer type.
In his sort,
I think,
Our judgment
Is approximately Ripe.
War is not
A necessary
Means of patching
Up disputes,
And it is
A sorry matter
When a Christian
Country shoots.
When the fever

Shall have ended,
And the kings
Are on their knees,
Mr. Wilson's fame,
I fancy,
Shall increase
A few degrees.
Men shall understand
Him better,
When the arms
Of earth shall rest,
And it wouldn't
Much surprise us
If they came
To call him blessed.

TEDDY TOGATUS.

Say Ted,
You're dead!
And Wilson's strewing immortelles, eight feet above
your head.
We stood for bunk,
We stood for bull,
We stood for language strong as Hell,
And when you broke
With William H.
We followed you and saw you fed.
At last,
You passed,
And we cashed in our chips as well.
Then bought,
And fought,
They sneered,
We cheered,
We thought that you would surely stick.
You lost.
Our cost;
You dropped us like a heated brick.
Thus as last you showed your colors,
When the Old Guard trumped your ace,
You walked on our nomination,
Tore it up and slapped our face.
Yes, Ted,
You're dead.
This time you're underground for good.

—HO.

TO WOODROW WILSON.

MUSE, I ask thy aid, for I must sing
Of him whom mighty Homer would have sung
Had he then lived. Now all the missions ring
With praises, each revering in its native tongue
A man whom Providence correctly chose
To keep a mighty nation out of war.
No greater man since Lincoln e'er arose
To lead a glorious people. Greater far
Than warring Kings whose armies conquer all Save right, which God himself cannot defeat.
Humanity, he heard thy pleading call
Nor did he waver for a moment, or retreat
From heights whereon his duty bade him stand,
Nor falter when a crisis hovered near,
Or e'er refuse to lend a helping hand;
A willing slave to justice, not to fear.

NELL.—"Made mustard" by taking water on just enough to wet two tablespoons oil, one teaspoon salt, half teaspoon salt, yolk of one egg, thin to proper consistency with vinegar. This will keep well and for salad dressing, etc., is excellent. I don't know how to make mustard.

MRS. M. C.—You will have to sue with the contract you signed with the furniture company. Possibly they will not be hard on you if they fully understand the circumstances.

WHY A 99-YEAR LEASE?—S. & O.—"What becomes of a 99-year lease?" "It never expires," says the railroad business, as railroads are not yet 100 years old, but in reality the lease reverts to the lessor.

A 99-year lease, of a practically means a sale. "Because," says the railroad business, "the lease seems to be less legal difficulty in selling the lease than in making a sale."

fact, the old-time lawyer would have the law to suit his client, but the companies have been assuming corporate powers so long that the lease is in transition state. Another reason for making it a 99-year lease is that few companies could buy a road and down, but nearly all can pay a small annual rental or installment of purchase money.

A 99-year lease, also, carries a provision for its continuation at the expiration of the original term. Whence originated the use of the term in leases, 99 or 999 years, or other days leases and mortgages, is a possession of real estate for 99 or 999 years demised the same at an annual rental, retaining a reversion for the last year of the original term.

The object of this proceeding was to found in the unwillingness of the tenant to become bound by the performance of the covenant contained in the original grant and also in the importance to the lessor of a reversionary interest, without which, under the old English practice, he could not recover his rent by distress.

This reversion was for only three days, even for one day, but in long terms the last year was retained. Out of this came the position that the lease provided for a reversion and hence leases were made for 99 or 999 years, when there was no reason whatever for any such period of time. In England there was a special case a restraint on corporations or ecclesiastical persons prohibiting the demise of lands belonging to them to the impoverishment of their successors for a term beyond 99 years, and leases were accordingly made for a year.

100 MACHINE GUNS FOR MEXICO

Weapons Ordered in U. S. by Germans Said to Have Reached Carranza. EL PASO, Tex., July 6.—Col. Jose Gomez, formerly of the staff of Gen. Raul Madero in the Villa army, arrived here today from Tampico, stating the Carranza army there had just received a shipment of 100 machine guns and 10,000 rounds of ammunition from Havana. He said the shipment comprised munitions bought by Germany in the United States at the outbreak of the European war. Unable to ship the munitions to Germany because of the British blockade, the equipment was held in the United States, he said, until it appeared the entente agents might get it, when it was shipped to Havana. It was held there until a month ago, when, presumably on the order of German agents, it was shipped to Tampico and delivered to the Carranza Government.

10 PERSONS HELD AFTER GIRL DIES FROM OPERATION

Massachusetts Doctor and Former Representative Are Among the Prisoners.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. SALEM, Mass., July 6.—Seven men, including Charles R. O'Connell, a lawyer of Peabody, who formerly was a State Representative, and John J. Shanahan, a well-known Peabody physician, were arrested here yesterday and three women were detained in Boston under suspicion by the police there, following the finding of the body of Miss Margaret Ward, 37 years old, a dry goods clerk, in an automobile in which were O'Connell and three others.

Miss Ward, a sister of Police Sgt. C. A. R. Duffee of this city, left her home in Peabody on Saturday afternoon, saying she was "going to Canobie Lake to spend July 4 with girl friends."

Tuesday night a man who later was arrested came to Duffee's home and told him his sister was ill and wanted to come to his home rather than return to her parents in Peabody. It was almost daybreak when an automobile containing four men drew up before his door. His sister lay on the floor of the car, where she had fallen from a seat, and the men said she had fainted.

Deaths—Arrests Six Men. Duffee seeing the dead girl drew his revolver and threatened to shoot the men should they try to flee. Two others came up, one his visitor a few hours before and he lined them up on the sidewalk.

O'Connell had been in the car and with him were his brother, James O'Connell of Lynn, his offices assistant, Daniel J. Dineen, and Thomas T. Sexton of this city, who drove the car. The others, who had joined the party after the car stopped at Duffee's door, were George A. Bardwell, a naval watchman of Boston, and William Conlin, a factory worker of this city, an acquaintance of the girl. After they had been held O'Connell said he did not know the girl was dead and that he was acting only in his capacity as a lawyer. The men were held on charges of being accessories after the fact.

Three Women Also Are Held. After Medical Examiner Frank S. Wood had reported that the girl had died following an operation the Boston police were communicated with, with the result that a house in Ware street, Roxbury, was visited and three women were taken to headquarters. They denied knowing anything about Miss Ward's death and the police say they declared she was alive when she left the house.

The last arrest was that of Dr. Shanahan, and what connection, if any, he had with the death of the girl, the police would not reveal. They do not believe Dr. Shanahan was the first to treat Miss Ward, according to their information, the young woman was taken to the Roxbury house Saturday night, and Dr. Shanahan visited her on Monday night and Tuesday.

LLOYD-GEORGE'S TEMPORARY IRISH HOME RULE PLAN

Would Remain in Effect Until a Year After the End of the War.

LONDON, July 6.—The complete details of Lloyd-George's scheme for provisional home rule for Ireland are published today. The following are the principal features:

1. An Irish House of Commons will be constituted by the transference to the Irish Parliament of 78 members now sitting in the British Commons for the 26 home rule counties. (The total Irish representation in the Imperial House of Commons is 103, of which 25 members sit for the six Ulster counties provisionally excluded from home rule.)

2. Of the 78 members to be transferred to the Irish House, 75 are Nationalists or Independents, while two are Unionists, namely Sir Edward Carson and J. H. M. Campbell, Attorney-General for Ireland. These two members represent Trinity College, Dublin. They have both consented to sit in the Home Rule Parliament and on this fact some hopes are based for future amity.

3. Members of the Irish Commons will retain their seats in the English House and will often be seen there, as the Irish body is not expected to have much business to transact at first.

4. Considerable representation of the unionist interests in the south and west of Ireland will be provided through the nomination of their representatives to the Irish Senate. It is proposed that the Senate sit and act with the Irish Commons during the temporary settlement, thus safeguarding the interests of the unionists.

5. The temporary settlement is to continue until one year after the termination of the war. At that time the whole arrangement will come under the review of the great imperial conference which is to be held to adjust the Government of the empire.

6. The framework of Irish finance in the home rule act will not be altered but some increase will be made in the sum to be transferred to Irish revenues from the Imperial treasury.

7. A new Lord Lieutenant will shortly be appointed as a preliminary to the adoption of the new arrangement.

RAGSDALE SAYS HE WAS MADE TARGET

"The very first dose of Tanlac hit the spot," J. B. Ragdale, of 6144 McPherson avenue, said recently. It relieved the gas in my stomach and made me feel much better," he added.

"I had catarrh of the stomach, head, nose and throat and my system generally was run down," Mr. Ragdale continued. "Gas would form in my stomach, causing bloating. My stomach was in this gaseous condition after each meal or after eating the least thing. I tried many medicines, but none of them helped me."

"A good friend recommended Tanlac. This new medicine certainly has done the work. The very first dose banished the gas from my stomach and before I had taken a full bottle of Tanlac I was able to eat nearly anything I wanted with no bad after effects."

"I've gained a lot of good from Tanlac and I gladly recommend it."

Tanlac, the Master Medicine, is especially beneficial for stomach, liver and kidney trouble, catarrhal complaints, rheumatism, nervousness, loss of appetite and the like, and is a fine tonic building up to health and strength, weak, run-down men and women.

Tanlac is now being specially introduced and explained in St. Louis at the Wolf-Wilson Drug Co., the seven Johnson-Enderle-Pauley drug stores and Winklemann's four South Side stores.—ADV.

A Good Horse.

OLD Mr. Caswell was an inveterate horse trader, and also a good deal of a wag.

One day he swapped a decidedly respectable looking nag, and after the deal was consummated he said:

"Now, sir, I'll tell yer fair an' square. That horse has got two faults."

"Yes, and more too, I guess," assented the other. "But what are the two you mention?"

"Well," confided old Caswell, slowly. "If he gets out in th' field he's th' hardest horse to catch ye ever see, an' when ye catch him he ain't worth a cuss."—National Magazine.

A Hard Life

HERE is a story which, if it is not true, ought to be. The English soldier in the train was dilating on his changed life.

"They took me from my home," he said, "and put me in barracks; they took away my clothes and put me in khaki; they took away my name and made me 'No. 575' they took me to church, where I'd never been before, and they made me listen to a sermon for 40 minutes. Then the parson said, 'No. 575, art thou weary, art thou languid?' and I got seven days in the guardhouse for giving him a civil answer."

No Change

THEY had parted long years ago. Now, in the deepening shadows of the twilight, they had met again.

"Here is the old stifle, Mary," he said. "Aye, an' here be our initials that you carved, Sandy," she replied.

The ensuing silence was only broken by the humming of an airplane overhead. Honey-laden memories thrilled through the twilight and flushed their glowing cheeks.

"Ah, Mary," exclaimed Sandy, "ye're just as beautiful as ye ever were, an' I ha'e never forgotten ye, my bonnie lass."

"And ye, Sandy," she cried, while her blue eyes moistened, "are jist as big a leaver as ever, an' I believe ye jist the same."—Tit-Bits.

MOONLIGHT can be blamed for a whole lot of things, but not for making two women want to kiss each other.

Captain's Orderly.

BY a piece of good luck the new recruit had been appointed orderly to his captain, and the latter was now giving him his instructions.

"You rise at 5 o'clock," he said, "shave yourself and clean your boots and equipment. Then you clean my boots, buttons, belt, etc., shave me, see to my horse—which you must groom thoroughly—and clean the equipment. After that you go to your hut, help serve the breakfast, and after breakfast lend a hand washing up. At 8 o'clock you go on parade drill till 12."

The recruit, whose face had been growing longer and longer, then interrupted:

"Beg pardon, sir, but is there any one else in the army besides me?"

All That Was Needed

A PROMINENT Texan in Washington recently expressed doubt that the United States army should have been sent into Mexico to capture Villa, suggesting that a company of Texas Rangers would have been better. Which brought out the story of a certain well-known Ranger Captain and a riot at Fort Worth, Tex.

Excited citizens wired to the Governor for a company of Rangers to be sent without delay. Aid was promised. A large delegation of citizens met the train on which the Rangers were supposed to come. A quiet little man with a broad felt hat on the back of his head alighted and was recognized as the Captain of a company of Rangers.

"Captain," a half-dozen excited citizens exclaimed at once, "what does this mean? Where in the world is your company?"

"Company!" the Ranger Captain made answer. "They ain't but one riot head, is they?"

In Exalted Company.

ONE of the members of a committee of inspection on its tour of a certain penitentiary found himself in conversation with one of the convicts.

The latter was disposed to be confidential and thus unburdened himself:

"It is a terrible thing to be known by a number instead of a name, and to feel that all my life I shall be an object of suspicion among the police."

"But you will not be alone, my friend," said the visitor, consolingly. "The same thing happens to people who own automobiles."

Not Sweeping the Streets.

MRS. BACON: I don't think the streets are nearly as clean as they used to be.

Mr. Bacon: Of course not. Just see what short skirts you women are wearing now.—Yonkers Statesman.

S'MATTER POP—UNDER SOME CIRCUMSTANCES MONEY DOESN'T EVEN WHISPER!—BY C. M. PAYNE.

FLOOEY AND AXEL—AXEL, ALSO, IS ABLE TO SHOW THE PROOF—BY VIC.

Once Was Enough

A N old farmer lost his barn by fire. They said at the time that it was insured for more than the building was worth and that he was not sorry to see the old shed destroyed.

Unfortunately for his hopes, however, the insurance people took advantage of an option in their policy and replaced the barn instead of giving him the money, greatly to his disgust.

Not long afterward the traveling agent of a life insurance company came into the village and, among others, solited the old man to effect an insurance on his life.

"No, no," said the farmer, "I should feel as if I were going to die tomorrow."

"Well," said the agent, facetiously, "if that is the case, take the insurance on your wife."

"You don't catch me there, either," chuckled the old man. "I know the way of you insurance chaps. You would just go and give me another old one into the village and, among others, so-

A FELLOW walked from Joplin to Kansas City on stilts.

"Must have had a high old time."

Sufficient Proof.

A CITIZEN was standing on a street corner looking a bit depressed when a friend sauntered along.

"What seems to be the trouble, old man?" solicitously queried the latter, extending the sympathetic hand. "You are a sight, like sad scenery."

"I have just had something of a jolt," answered the sad one. "I was bequeathed a silver service as the solid thing a few weeks ago, and now I know that it is only plated ware."

"Sorry to hear that, old fellow," returned the friend. "But you may be mistaken."

"Oh, no I'm not," was the mournful rejoinder of the sad one. "The service was on the sideboard the other night when burglars broke in, but they never touched it."

Reason Enough.

OM, please, Miss Jeanne!" begged the youth earnestly, "do not call me Mr. Durand."

"Oh, but our acquaintance is so short, you know," she said coyly. "But why should I not call you that?"

"Well," the young man hesitated, "principally because my name is Du-

Hopeful.

PARKER: How is your rheumatism getting on?

Ferry: It's getting along slowly, but I'm very hopeful now.

Parker: I'm glad to hear that.

Ferry: Yes, it commenced in my feet and has gradually worked up to my shoulders. I'm in hopes that in about a week it will go off into my hat.

The Thing That Counts Most

I HAVEN'T got riches," said Ezra McGee, "but say—I've got Maggie and Maggie's got me. There's nothing else counts very much with us two."

Then Ezra McGee took a generous chew. "I see by the papers some feller today lost mebbe a million at stock market play and then, in despair, put a hole in his head. He had the wrong dope and he's better off dead. It ain't what you win and it ain't what you lose in dollars and cents or in peanuts or shoes that matters the most in this funny old life. It's love for a husband or love for a wife. Now, mebbe I'm wrong as you see it," Ez said. "In that case I'd say you've been badly misled. To my way of thinkin' we couldn't agree, for say—I've got Maggie and Maggie's got me."

Facts Not Worth Knowing

Always place the can of sardines in the aquarium until ready to serve. Fish keep best in their native element.

When completed the Lincoln Highway will stretch 3000 miles. At present they are trying to make about 400 miles of Lincoln Highway stretch 3000 miles.

In writing scenarios for the movies, remember that having the villain commit hari-kari is much cheaper than feeding him powdered diamonds.

Practical Cure.

WHY have you pitched that tent in your back yard?

"Well, I have a large family and I'm persuading them to take turns sleeping out there. By the time I get through nobody will want to go camping this summer."

Strictly Regular.

THAT nurse wanted an extortionate price to attend to the baby.

"Well, isn't nursing babies naturally a holdup business?"

There's a Reason.

I T isn't all honey being the eldest girl of a family, as Marjorie often finds. Particularly does she get aggravated when told to put Baby Dora to bed.

Dora has the common infantile complaint of wanting everything she can think of before she will condescend to go to sleep.

"I want a drink of milk," she announced loudly one evening when Marjorie had already made several trips upstairs.

"I lit the gas for you, didn't I?" demanded Marjorie, standing accusingly by the bed of the babe.

No answer.

"And I've brought your teddy bear and the black doll!"

Still Dora vouchsafed no reply.

"And I gave you a piece of white paper and a nice pencil!"

This time Dora pouted assent.

"Well," decreed the big sister, with an air of finality, "just you take the pencil and paper and draw a cow, and then you can milk it!"

Got It First.

IF it hadn't been for his wife, Barton would have squandered his entire fortune.

"What did she do?"

"She just anticipated him."

Nice Arrangement.

THE janitor of this apartment house is a woman," remarked the agent.

"Fine," said the man who has just signed a lease. "Now, maybe, I'll get a chance to see the sporting page of my paper once in a while."

Watchful Visitor.

WHILE on your vacation in the country, did you see them milk the cows?

"You bet I did, and I watched them until they got past the pump with the milk pails, too."

Wife: Then I know you'll approve of my getting my complete outfit for summer before the real hot weather sets in.
